The Dragon

46 0 1

Chapter 1 by Wolfram

It all started on a June 1st the day when a element dragon chose a person. I was very curious which element dragon would chose me. All the elements have turned into dragons in time. I just hope its the Uranium dragon because its the best to fight in the war. I thought has I waited in my seat. "Ella Air will you please come up" said the gold dragon. And one of the people in the crowd came up. "Will you please set your hand on the diamond" said the Gold dragon. She set her hand on it and and her hand turned bright red. "Lift your hand up" the gold dragon said. She did and her hand said "Silver". "Please come to the portal and go in" said the gold dragon. She went in and disappeared. And this went on until only the radioactive element dragons were left and the Wolfram dragon. "Fletcher Wolf will you please come up" the gold dragon said. I stood up and walked to the diamond. "Please set your hand on the diamond" the gold dragon said. I set my hand on the diamond but it didn't turn bright red it was a gray color like Wolfram. I touched my hand on the diamond and it was the metal wolfram. I was hard like it and it felt like it. But what I didn't realize will examining my hand was it started to spread til it cover my whole body but not my gray eyes. I lifted my hand off the diamond and my hand said "Wolfram". Then I noticed that it now covered my body. I gasped and everyone else in the crowd gasped. For this had never haven't before. "G..oe.....to...the...portal....Wolf" the gold dragon said his body was shaking and he fainted. I went into the portal to the academy to meet my dragon and to learn about my powers and how to fight and control my powers.
